The AMPICO in the FRANKLIN PIANO, $750

No Other Instrument Has Ever Stood Such a Test!

SIDE by side they performed from the stage of the music room of the Hotel Biltmore of New York—Leopold Godowsky, premier concert pianist of America, and the Ampico. And when this remarkable "comparison concert" was over, the Ampico had proved beyond question that a genuine reproducing piano had at last been perfected. Tone for tone and phrase for phrase the Ampico's performance duplicated that of the artist himself.

Can you imagine a more severe test? Think, too, of what it means when an artist of Godowsky's standing consents to participate in a public comparison of his art with a "player piano."

As a matter of fact, the Ampico is not a "player piano" in the ordinary sense, but a new invention of infinitely greater artistic possibilities—an invention that mirrors the most intimate characteristics of the great pianists' playing and reproduces their interpretations exactly as if they were playing your own piano.

The Ampico may be used as the regular piano for playing manually and also as the player piano, using any standard 88-note roll.

When you can give your couturier $10,000 and say, "Gown me for the season!" it is easy to be smart!

But when you must appear just as correct, just as trim, just as elegant and yet spend a not unreasonable sum on your wardrobe—then, indeed, the clever woman must make her head serve her purse.

Distinction in dress is far more a matter of information than of income. Every smart woman knows that Vogue's absolute fashion authority and unerring good taste are the best possible guides to good dressing.

a tiny fraction of your loss on a single ill-chosen hat or gown

Will Save You $200

The gown you buy and never wear is the really expensive gown. Gloves, boots, hats, that just miss being what you want are the ones that cost more than you can afford.

Assure yourself now against costly "clothes mistakes.' Select every item of your Spring and Summer wardrobe with absolute certainty of its smartness, distinction, and ability to hold its style. Guide yourself by the Smart Fashions for Limited Incomes number of Vogue and the nine Summer and Autumn fashion numbers that follow it. You may have them all for $2—the price of a single simple little Georgette collar that would be shabby long before the end of Summer.

There is a new white satin abroad in Paris, a satin which is neither ivory, nor beige, nor oyster white, but a sort of silvery suggestion of all three. Since the evening gown is "forbid to grow" on Paris soil, they combine it, as Paquin has done, with black satin in afternoon costumes.
