Jesse Andrews went from Farmington, Conn., to Montague, Mass., when six years of age. He was a farmer. From the time of her marriage until the death of her husband Sarah (Alvord) Andrews resided on the old Andrews homestead in Montague, one mile south of "the City." Her children were all baptised by "good old Dr. Strong," the Episcopal minister in Greenfield for half a century, in whose church Mrs. Andrews was a communicant for over fifty years.
