

born at Wilna, N. Y., Aug. 27, 1835, married, March 12, 1861, AMY B. TOWNSEND, two of whose older sisters had married his brothers. Philander served three years in the War of the Rebellion, being mustered out June, 1865. It was said of him and of two others that "they were the best foragers in the company, and no other men need attempt to bring in what they could not get, while his inexhaustible store of jokes helped to keep up their spirits even when lying, as they did, one rainy night, without tents, on a bed of rails, while a stream of water flowed under them and one from the clouds poured over them." Disease contracted in the army finally proved fatal, and he died June 13, 1888. Children :
