

1817; married South Hadley, Mass., Jan. 21, 1801, Stephen Tyler, probably son of Elijah and Ruth Tyler. Res. Wilmington, Vt. Children:

- a. Stephen, bapt. Wilmington, Vt., Oct. 9, 1803.
- b. Betsey; d. Wilmington, Vt., Dec., 1803.
- c. Ebenezer, bapt. Wilmington, Vt., Nov. 11, 1804.
- d. Infants; d. Wilmington, Vt., Mar. 20, 1802 and Oct. 9, 1803.

It is presumed that the above Stephen Tyler was formerly of Westhampton, Mass., and moved to Wilmington, Vt., about 1803. If this is correct his first wife was Anna and he probably had a brother Moses.

195. JOSIAH ALVORD (Josiah, Josiah, Benjamin, Alexander), born Windsor, Mass., July 12, 1780; died Ronald, Mich., Oct. 21, 1861; married Nov. 11, 1800, Lydia White, daughter of Nathaniel and Mehitable (Morey) White. She was born prob. Newton, Mass., May 3, 1778; died Ronald, Mich., Mar. 14, 1853. Res. Cazenovia, N. Y., Otsego Co., N. Y., and Wayne Co., N. Y. Children:

483. Phanelya, b. Cazenovia, N. Y., Sept. 19, 1801; d. May 11, 1804.
484. Sally, b. Cazenovia, N. Y., June 8, 1805.

488. Lydia White, b. Macedon, Wayne Co., N. Y., Aug. 6, 1819.

The U. S. Census shows that Josiah Alvord was living at Cazenovia, N. Y., in 1800 and at Butternuts, N. Y., in 1810. The land records make him a resident of Schuyler, N. Y., in 1815; Palmyra, N. Y., in 1821-2; Macedon, N. Y., in 1827. His grandson says that his grandfather lived on the line of the Erie Canal and boarded some of the men engaged in its construction. His son Marshall, rode on the first boat that ran on the canal. He lived with his son Marshall in Mich. and is remembered as a fine old man.
