Administrative Information

Provenance

The Puerto Rican Memorial Collection was given to the Library of Congress by Alice Bache Gould in a series of installments from 1941 to 1947. Additional items were given by James G. Shine in 1988.

Processing History

The Puerto Rican Memorial Collection was arranged and described in 1999. The register was revised in 2008.

Transfers

Pamphlets have been transferred to the Law Library where they are identified as part of the Puerto Rican Memorial Collection.

Copyright Status

It is the researcher's responsibility to determine requirements of domestic copyright laws and international treaties and conventions.

Access and Restrictions

The Puerto Rican Memorial Collection is open to research. Researchers are advised to contact the Manuscript Reading Room prior to visiting. Many collections are stored off-site and advance notice is needed to retrieve these items for research use.

Microfilm

A microfilm edition of part of these papers is available on three reels. Consult reference staff in the Manuscript Division concerning availability for purchase or interlibrary loan. To promote preservation of the originals, researchers are required to consult the microfilm edition as available.

Preferred Citation

Researchers wishing to cite this collection should include the following information: Container number, Puerto Rican Memorial Collection, Manuscript Division, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C.

Scope and Content Note

The Puerto Rican Memorial Collection spans the years 1519-1923, with the bulk of the material dating from 1833 to 1910. The collection consists of correspondence, essays, lecture notes, a journal, plays, newspaper clippings, printed matter, and bibliographic material.

In 1941, and again in 1947, Alice Bache Gould donated to the Library of Congress her collection of papers and manuscripts concerning the history of Puerto Rico. In addition to her own correspondence, writings, and bibliographic work, Gould had gathered original nineteenth-century manuscripts by several important figures in Puerto Rico's intellectual and political history.

The largest file in the collection concerns Father Rufo Manuel Fernández Carballido. It includes his notes and essays on science, religion, education in Puerto Rico, and a journal of a trip to the United States in 1837. The writings of Fernández Carballido that had been in bound volumes have been disassembled for conservation purposes. As an aid for maintaining order, small numbers placed on the bottom of each piece of paper have been cited in the Container List of this finding aid.

The papers of Román Baldorioty de Castro shed light on the political history of the island, especially Baldorioty de Castro's activities as president of the "Partido Autonomista Puerto-Riqueño" in 1887-1888. Also in the collection is a fifty-seven page bound manuscript written by the Spanish general Alejandro O'Reilly in 1765 who described and analyzed, with statistical information included, the population, resources, and future development of Puerto Rico. The O'Reilly volume had belonged to Baldorioty de Castro.

Incorporated into the collection is the James G. Shine gift of correspondence written by Ramón Emeterio Betances, physician and Caribbean political activist. The letters were written in 1890 during his exile in Paris.

Arrangement of the Papers

Material that has been microfilmed is arranged in the order in which it was filmed in 1981. The rest of the collection is organized alphabetically by name of person or by topic or type of material
