

AMONG US MORTALS

DRAWN BY W. E. HILL
MOTORING

The village belle, who comes as near as she can with the hose without actually hitting the passing motor party.

Lilly and Myrtle, after five minutes' hard thinking, decide first that they don't know, and then conclude that "it's about two miles further on." This invariably means anywhere from 18 to 25 miles.

Very much embarrassed militiaman near a munition factory, about to search Aunt Hattie and Cousin Nettie for bombs.

The Pringle family knock off work to watch the passing Ford out of sight.

Jennie Belle Brown, having read in the newspapers all about kidnapers and white slavers, refuses the proffered lift.

"Listen!"—the man who is always hearing a knock in the motor.

The siren on the back seat who just loves to explore new roads.