

Brave acts are all in the day's work with these New York Fire Department laddies, winners of medals for merit shown in 1916. They are, left to right, standing: Thomas Kilbride, Rescue Co. 1; Richard Mangels, H. and L. Co. 3; Michael Sloane, H. and L. Co. 8; Ferdinand A. Beyer, H. and L. Co. 108; Leland Wallace, H. and L. Co. 108; Joseph Maher, H. and L. Co. 108. Sitting: Captain John R. Farley, H. and L. Co. 8; John Devine, H. and L. Co. 3; John J. Falls, H. and L. Co. 20; John Walsh, H. and L. Co. 8; Captain James J. Mooney, H. and L. Co. 120.

Photo from E. A. Waterman.

Here is the first photograph received of the historic entry of the British into Bagdad. The shade of Haroun-al-Raschid must have raised its hands in horror at this invasion of his once glorious capital by the infidel.

Central News Photo Service.

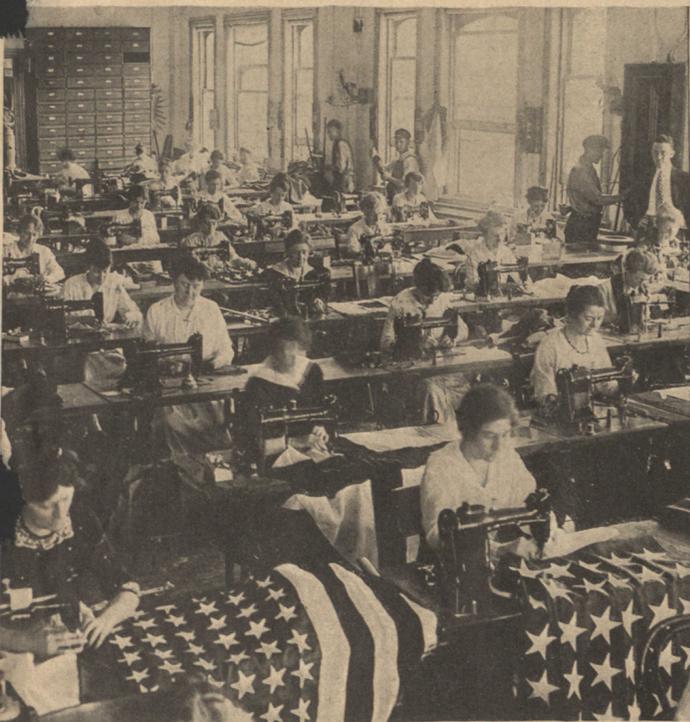

The members of the Russian war mission were interested spectators of this test exhibition of Fire Department work at City College Stadium the other day. The fire had a good start, but the high pressure water tower soon brought it under control.

Photo by Grosley Service.

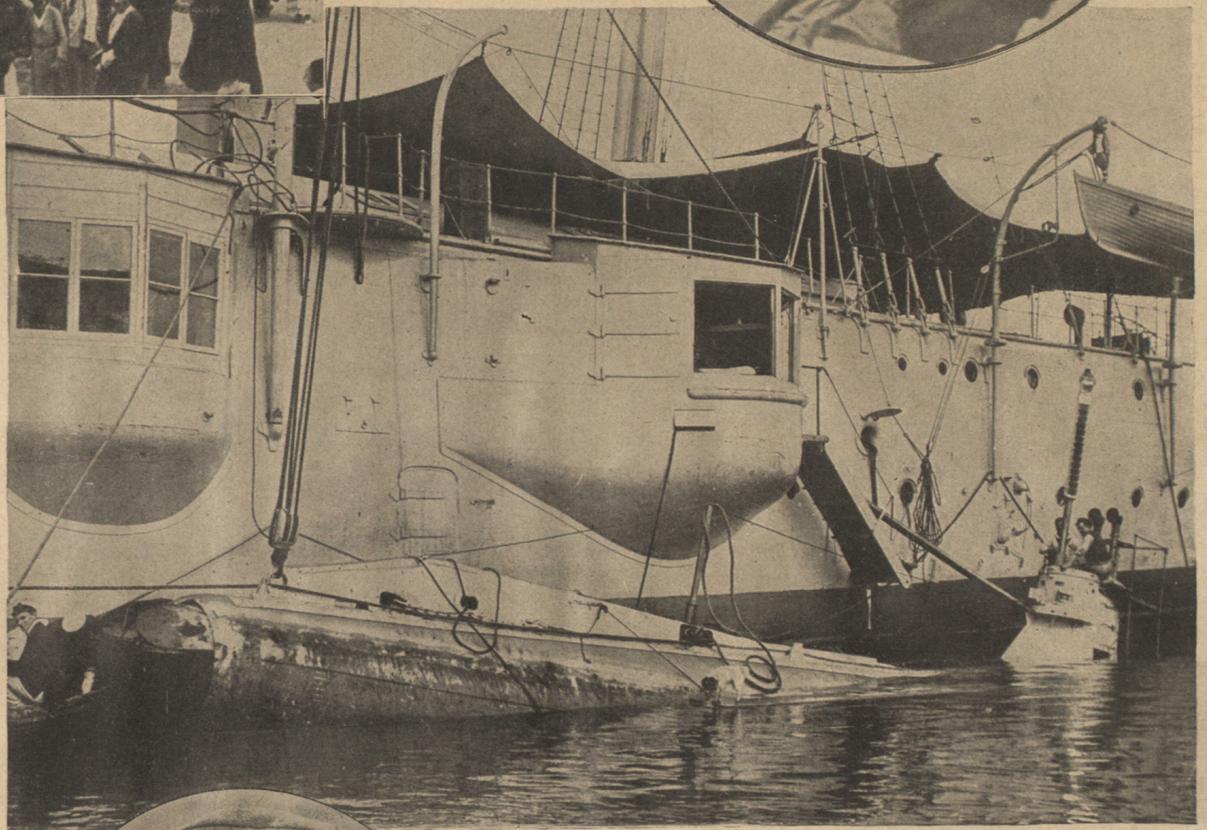

Mme. Helene Sergievsky, one of the secretaries to the Duma, in this country with the Russian commission, at the Firemen's Carnival at City College Stadium. At her left is Mrs. Mitchel, wife of the Mayor.

© International Film Service.

Since the United States entered the war the patriotic demand for the American flag exceeds the supply. This shop in the Brooklyn Navy Yard is working full time, turning out the national emblem for our fleet.

Bain News Service.

The British fleet, ever on the job, makes all possible repairs at sea. The bow of this submarine is being raised by its mother ship to permit the workmen to get at it.

© International Film Service.

Types of German prisoners taken by the British in their latest push on the Western Front. The cheery Heinie in the centre undoubtedly prefers the peaceful hayfields of England to the trenches in France.

Official photographs, © Underwood & Underwood.