

Left: The four Ruden brothers, of Brooklyn, ready for action with the navy. (Left) Samuel L and (top) A. Frank are somewhere on the Atlantic Coast. (Right) George B., serving in the naval militia, and (bottom) William G., in the junior naval reserve.

Ed. Esmond.

A real close-up of Donald B. MacMillan, who is back in New York after nearly four years of hardship and adventure in the Arctic as head of the Crocker Land Expedition. Bronzed by Arctic winds and down to whipcord, "Mac," as we always called him when he taught us Latin in prep school, some dozen or more years ago, says that Peary's reported Crocker Land was a mirage.

Underwood & Underwood.

Sewing for her seven sons serving the Allies—Mrs. William J. Tisdall in her home, in Hoboken, N. J., eagerly awaits the day her boys will come marching home. Four sons are now serving in the British army and three have enlisted with the American Army.

American Press Assn.

Above: Captain Hamilton Fish, jr., inspects model trenches built by the 15th Regiment of New York, who are doing ground duty at Camp Dix, Wrightstown, N. Y.

Kadel & Herbert.

Above: "Dan" Beard, National Scout Commissioner, Boy Scouts of America, places a wreath on the statue of Lafayette, in Union Square, New York, during the celebration of Lafayette Day.

Above: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau. The wife of the former Ambassador to Turkey has been decorated by the French government with the Legion of Honor in recognition of her services at the French Hospital in Constantinople during the early days of the war.

Press Ill. Serv.

Above (left to right): Mrs. Ogden Reid, treasurer; Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse, chairman, and Mrs. James Lee Laidlaw, vice-chairman of the New York State Woman's Suffrage Party, with Colonel Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, where the Colonel at his home recently welcomed five hundred suffrage enthusiasts.

A. P. A.

Little Virginia Dassler, not quite five, training for a championship some time in 1930. This little girl is absolutely fearless in the water; she dives and swims with all the method and manner of a real champion, and, as she herself says, "but when I's tired I floats, but my feet won't keep under." Virginia lives on an island and spends most of her time in the water. She has even taught her little brother, three years old, to swim.

Edwin Levick

