BOHN SYPHON REFRIGERATORS

Bohn pre-eminence is not a matter of claims or opinion. It is founded upon proven superiority, which in turn is based upon these definite, tangible facts:
The Bohn Siphon System of rapid air circulation lowers temperature and keeps the air dry.
The Bohn Insulation, which includes two layers of Flaxinum, is the most effective heat resistance ever devised.
The Bohn Lining (a single piece in all but the largest models) is of fused Porcelain-Steel that will not chip or peel. It has rounded corners, a great advantage from the sanitary standpoint.
Every detail of construction has been studied and worked out to produce the maximum in convenience and service. The front drain is one example.
Superior food preservation, prevention of mixing food-flavors and food-odors, great economy of ice—these are the results of the exclusive features built into Bohn Refrigerators. Every statement can be proved—by the results of competitive tests conducted by railroads, hotels and others, and by the evidence of your own eyes and judgment. If it is possible to call here, you should do so; if not, write for our handsomely illustrated catalog.

IDEAL REFRIGERATORS are metal outside as well as inside, especially desirable for damp climates. Built by the makers of the Bohn Siphon, they have all the same desirable features except the Siphon system, at prices somewhat lower.

SANITOR REFRIGERATORS are a group of popular priced models, built by the makers of the Bohn Siphon, lighter in construction but conforming to the same high standards. They are superior in every respect to ordinary makes.

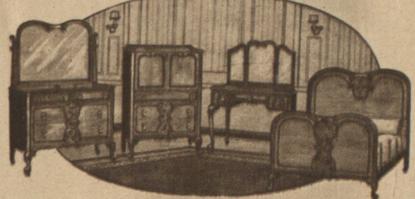

Our complete line covers a broad range of styles and sizes, at prices from $16.50 up

R. P. Leube, Mgr.

The number of people in New York to whom the good cooking of the simple, old-fashioned dishes appeals is astonishingly large.

The Belleclaire dining room is the meeting place for a great many of these people, for they know they get the best of everything, cooked as they like it.

There is nothing gorgeous in the way of decorations. There is no attempt at fancy furnishings. All the money spent in the Belleclaire goes toward giving its guests good eating, polite and satisfactory service—and a home environment, which is simple but in good taste.

You get the real things at the Belleclaire.

Do any of you want to live in a home hotel? We can accommodate a few more families with comfortable apartments.
