Above: Will this be a usual sight a few years hence?—Mrs. Pankhurst, with Mme. Botchkara, their leader, inspects the Women's Legion in Petrograd. Pledged to die in defence of democracy—and having proven their bravery under fire, the Battalion of Death is today in revolt against Mme. Botchkara, who was wounded in action—claiming her disciplinary methods are wrong.

Central News

Left: General Petain is welcomed by school children on his visit to this Alsatian village. These dignified little girls on the steps of the Hotel de Ville are dressed in the national costume and carry flowers to be presented to the general.

Underwood & Underwood

Left: Captain W. A. Bishop, D. S. C., M. C., who has been awarded the V. C., examining his Lewis gun. A Canadian, attached to the R. F. C., he has brought down thirty-seven Boche 'planes.

A. P.

Above: Irish Guards giving first aid to a German found wounded in trenches which have just been taken during the fighting on the Flanders front.

Underwood & Underwood

Left: This poilu has been wounded in the fighting just a few hundred yards away and, aided by a comrade, is on his way to the first line dressing station. Each soldier carries a first aid kit and has been taught how to care for his wounds. Immediate treatment means the saving of many thousands of badly wounded.

French Official Pict. Press

Right: The famous Red Cross Sister Vera Mosmokowa welcomes her wounded and sick countrymen on their arrival at Elsinore. These Russian soldiers have been prisoners in Germany and are being sent to Elsinore for treatment.

Underwood & Underwood