

Returning from the fight at Hill 70, pipers of the Gordon Highlander Battalion lead the way to the rest camp.
Underwood & Underwood.

To the right: S. L. Rawles (conspicuous gallantry medal) who although wounded, stuck to the wheel of H. M. S. "Broke" during her recent hot fight with the Germans in the English Channel. Luring the fight the "Broke" was boarded.
A. P. A.

Goodbye New York! Some of this city's contribution to the new army take a last look at the New York skyline on the first leg of their journey to France, via Spartanburg, S. C.
Am. Press.

Left—Capt. John Wanamaker, Jr., who is breaking in rookies at Camp Dix, Wrightstown, N. J. Int. Rev.
Above—Major Richard Derby, son-in-law of Col. Roosevelt, serves as an instructor in the army medical corps at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.
Central News.

Shoes Off! The first thing a Boche prisoner does after leaving the shelled area is to take off his heavy army boots. These prisoners taken recently by the Canadians prove no exception to the rule.
A. P. A.

These seventeen beautiful little girls recently gave a dance recital on the lawn of Mrs. H. H. Rogers' beautiful country home at Southampton, L. I.
Underwood & Underwood.

To the right: Two of New York's soldiers in the making stop for a chat at 45th Ave. and 67th Street one of the newest corners in America. Work on the streets and buildings of the cantonments in the training camps for New York's quota is being rushed rapidly to take care of the new thousands now going into training.
Underwood & Underwood.