

Mexican Consul General Senor Juan T. Burns, who entertained several hundred prominent Mexicans recently at dinner in the Waldorf in celebration of the 107th anniversary of Mexican independence. On the left some of the guests, who included Raphael Hernandez, former head of the Madero Cabinet; Pedro Lascurain, acting President after the resignation of Madero, and J. F. Magon, former Madero minister and noted Socialist leader.

A group of energetic and enthusiastic Red Cross workers, who have so splendidly been "doing their bit" at Beechwood, N. J.

Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, mother of Vincent Astor, now at the front in France, is herself an interested war worker, having done active nursing service in the Duchess of Westminster Hospital in France.
E. L. Hoppe

Miss Margaret Wilson, eldest daughter of the President. Miss Wilson is a singer, and divides her income from concert work between the Red Cross and her school social service interests.
© Mishkin

Queen Victoria of Spain and her son, Prince Gonzalo, photographed on the beach at a fashionable Spanish watering place. The little lad's resemblance to his father, King Alfonso, is quite striking.
Underwood & Underwood

"Looking for Daddy." The two sons of Admiral Sir David Beatty, of the British navy. Lady Beatty, their mother, is the daughter of the late Marshall Field, of Chicago.
E. L. Hoppe

On the right—Lady Dorothea Feilding, the first British woman to receive the military medal. King Albert of Belgium recently bestowed upon her his kingdom's highest military decoration. Her ladyship recently married Captain Charles Moore, of the Irish Guards.
E. L. Hoppe

